Gavin Ryne Winslow

"Sweet Baby Gavin" was born on February 23, 2006 with End-Stage Renal Failure. He was admitted to Children's hospital of Wisconsin immediately after his birth and started on peritoneal dialysis. Peritoneal dialysis means that he is hooked up to a machine at home every night for 10 hours to "clean out" his blood.

Intelligent and funny, "sweet baby Gavin" is a determined young baby, destined, with your help, to be an inspiration to others. But, without a kidney transplant, Gavin will not survive.

Donate Life ~ Your support is needed

Together with the Children's Organ Transplant Association (COTA), a national, nonprofit 501 (c)3 charity, dedicated to helping children with transplant and transplant-related expenses, we are launching a fundraising campaign to help baby Gavin with costs not covered by private insurance. Our goal is to raise $100,000.

Why is it so important to donate money right now to Gavin's campaign?

1. Gavin's condition is long term, permanent, and will eventually result in death unless a kidney transplant is performed.
2. Gavin's current peritoneal dialysis is only life-sustaining and will not change the condition of his kidneys.

3. Sadly, hospitals require proof of payment BEFORE Gavin can even be placed on a transplant waiting list.
4. A kidney transplant for Gavin costs around $200,000. The first year of follow up costs about $40,000. This does not even include any hospital stays. Medications needed to keep Gavin's kidney functioning, will cost, on average, $2,000 per month, and will incur for his family as long as his new kidney keeps functioning. Also, because of his young age, Gavin will need multiple transplants.

Please help save baby Gavin by making a 100% tax-deductible donation to his campaign.
